

Using PCA delivers a greater accuracy than the SVM even with features removed, though it also depended on if the features were important.

